From 2002 assessment Camacho said : "This is a mycorrhizal species it is dependent on a host tree for its carbohydrates. Studies have shown that if the tree is killed the mycorrhizal fungi die shortly after. The one possibly saving feature of this species is the spore bank. However, nothing is known about the spore bank of this species." Some of the occurrences are older occurrences, however Camacho also said "This fungus is known from 8 sites in Oregon. However, it is very small, hypogeous and easily overlooked. All of these sites are within the areas that are well characterized for truffles. It is unclear how much further the range of this species extends."

Intrinsic Vulnerability: Not Evaluated
